GHI OK's Home-building; Approves Refinancing Plan

by Sid Kastner

The projected new GHI building program for 4 free-standing homes was given a boost at Thursday's board of directors meeting, as management expressed its readiness to go ahead and some members showed high interest in them. In other business, the refinancing proposal of Twin Pines Savings and Loan Corporation, which has been in the process of negotiation for some weeks, was accepted by motion with some minor conditions included.

Manager Roy Breashears noted that if GHI were definitely planning to build the homes, items such as design (to fill the needs of prospective owners) and priorities should be undertaken soon, and asked "once and for all, are we going ahead with these homes?" To answer his question, the board passed a motion by Director John O'Reilly that "once and for all" GHI proceed with the project. The manager stated that the machinery of hiring architects, surveyors, etc. could now be set in motion. The 4 homes would be located on the GHI-owned lots in the Woodland Way - Northway area.

Mrs. Foster, a member of the audience, made a plea for serious consideration of townhouses, emphasizing that many members in her situation could afford a townhouse more easily than the more expensive free-standing homes. Directors, Schwan and E. Burgoon noted that if the free-standing homes proved to be in great demand, GHI would certainly go ahead with the townhouses also. Schwan suggested further that a meeting might be arranged with all the members who are seriously interested; if enough people showed they want townhouses, this might be done concurrently.

The results of the Long-Range Planning Committee's questionnaire, which included questions on this project, have not been analyzed yet (by Bruce Bowman, in the hospital at the present time) but Breashears indicated that member response has been very favorable. A motion by director Gerry Gough was passed to set up a board meeting June 1st to consider the new housing in more detail.

Refinancing Plan

The Twin Pines proposal in its latest form provides 10-year refinancing on frame homes and 15-year refinancing on brick homes at 5% installment rates; it was formally accepted on a motion by O'Reilly which also stipulated that Twin Pines make a fair appraisal and lend only 80% of the appraisal, require that the lender actually have the 20% downpayment (not borrowing it from some other source) and limit loans to those people who have a real need. O'Reilly, as treasurer, Breashears and Dave McGinn have been negotiating the details of this arrangement with Twin Pines for some time now and were commended by GHI president Charles Schwan for coming up with a workable plan.

Nursery School

Breashears reported that he had looked into the Greenbelt Nursery School's question concerning possible use of a GHI unit for expansion of its program, and found that for one or another reason the arrangement would not be feasible. The board "regretfully" denied the request. (The Nursery School has since been accommodated in its present quarters, it has been learned.)

Manager Breashears and director O'Reilly gave an interesting report on their visit to "Pennypack," a cooperative housing project in Pennsylvania. Pennypack has many unusual features which make for a very efficiently run community and a high degree of member participation; this results in a very stable membership with low turnover. Details of this report will probably be published in a forth coming GHI newsletter.

Chairman Schwan reminded all present of the purposes of the "Citizens for a Planned Greenbelt" group and urged everyone to join. In this connection, director Gough noted that apparently the owner of the "Golden Triangle" at Kenilworth and Greenbelt Road has "denuded" the land even before any zoning change has been granted or denied, and cited this as an example of the attitude that Greenbelters have to deal with.

Schwan expressed his thanks to the rest of the board for their cooperation during the past year, and to Mrs. "Jeff" Chapman for whom the meeting was her last as she will not be running again for the board.

Public Hearing June 2 On Municipal Budget

The public hearing on the 1965-66 municipal budget will be held on Wednesday, June 2, 8 p.m. in the city offices. Next week the city will hold a series of meetings with the city department heads. On Monday, May 24, the general government and miscellaneous items will be considered; on Tuesday, May 25, the public works budget; and on Monday, May 31, the recreation budget.

The police department budget was discussed last Tuesday in the first of the budget meetings. The 1965-66 budget calls for total expenditures of $100,400, an increase of $14,200 over the current year. New items costing $5,800 consisted of an additional police officer, the addition of a teletype service, and establishment of motor vehicle registration books.

The balance of the increase is mainly due to the 7-8 percent salary increase voted last year and to the transfer of half the receptionist's salary which was previously charged to the Executive budget. Other items contributing to the increase are expenditures for motor fuel, tires, and parts.

Father Haslinger, who is well known in Greenbelt as the son of the Haslinger family of Court 11, Ridge, was in Selma, Ala., on March 9 with the Rev. Martin Luther King. Also on the panel is the Rev. Perry Smith, Minister of the First Baptist Church, North Brentwood. The Rev. Smith is past president of the Prince Georges County N.A.A.C.P., and a member of the Maryland State Advisory Committee to the U. S. Civil Rights Commission. The third member of the panel, to be announced later, is expected to be a rabbi. Albert Herling, Chairman of Greenbelt Citizens for Fair Housing, will preside.

City Council Session Centers On Charlestowne Village Pool

by Dorothy Sucher

The presence of developer Charles Bresler at the City Council meeting on Monday, May 17, gave councilmen and citizens an opportunity to question him about four items on the agenda, all involving property owned by Bresler. Bresler explained his plans at some length, and although he stated at one point, "After four years, gentlemen, you've got me tired out," he seemed in excellent form except for partial laryngitis, which obliged him to use the microphone. Also present was a crowd of new residents from Charlestowne Village and the Lakecrest subdivision. For many, it was the first council meeting they had attended.

Bresler will be presenting a petition to the county commissioners at a hearing tomorrow, requesting a special exception permitting construction of a swimming pool for residents of his Charlestowne Village development. The pool has been the subject of considerable local controversy in recent weeks.

Location of Pool

The location of the pool was the point at issue. Bresler had proposed building it on Parcel B, across the lake from the new Lakecrest homes at the end of Lakeside Drive. Michael Foley, attorney for the residents in the Lakecrest subdivision explained that, while the group did not oppose construction of the pool, they did not want it adjacent to their property. They felt it would create a traffic hazard and reduce property values, and that the lights of the pool would be a nuisance at night. The group plans to appear at the hearing on Friday, and they asked that a city representative join them.

Councilman Lewis Bernstein then described, for the record, the history of the land in question. He recalled that in 1962 Bresler had agreed to give the city a parcel of land for recreational use. By the terms of the agreement, Bresler was permitted to erect recreational facilities (specifically, a swimming pool) approved by the city, which were afterwards to become the property of the city. Bernstein noted that the land has not yet been deeded to the city.

Alternative Site for Pool

Bresler stated he was willing to build the pool in a different location. "I promised to build the city a pool," he said. "But if the citizens don't want a pool, believe me, they don't have to have it." He proposed another site, on Prince James Way southwest of Lakecrest Drive extended.

Antique Car Show

Greenbelt's Third Annual Antique Car Show will be held this Sunday, May 23, at the Greenbelt Shopping Center on Centerway. The antique cars will be rolling into town and on display between the hours of 1 and 5 p.m.

All autos will be from 25 to 55 years old, according to Henry Davis, of Kay Dee Furniture Company who is the president of the Greenbelt Shopping Center Association, sponsors of the show.

Trophies will be presented for various categories. Mayor Edgar Smith and other city officials are expected to be present. Miss Carolyn Finley, Miss Greenbelt of 1964-65, will present one of the trophies.

Latest estimates are that about 60 antique cars will be on display.

The Greenbelt Concert Band, under the direction of Howard Carle, will provide a musical background.

Mayor Edgar Smith adjourned the meeting briefly while citizens, officials, and the developer clustered around a large map of the area. Some Lakecrest citizens expressed confusion about the actual location of the newly proposed site, and their feelings were summed up by a woman who said, "We don't have any objection to the pool as long as we don't have to see it."

Bresler promised to post a marker at the site before Friday's hearing, the council passed a motion urging the county commissioners to agree to a special exception for the site most acceptable to the Lakecrest residents, and City Manager James Giese was directed to attend the hearing on behalf of the city.

Mayor Smith commented, "It looks like everybody is on the same side and just didn't realize it."

Clell Harral, president of the newly formed Charlestowne Village Citizens Association, commented that before residents had moved into the Charlestowne Village they had been promised exclusive use of a swimming pool, free of charge.

If the pool is built on Prince James Way instead of the site proposed earlier, it will not become the property of the city. In response to questions from council, Bresler stated that the parcel of parkland promised to the city would probably be deeded within the next four or five months.

Petition on Clearing Debris

A petition bearing 19 signatures, and accompanied by photographs, was presented by Lakecrest residents asking the city's help in clearing construction debris caused by Bresler's building activities in the area, which have created an unsightly and allegedly unhealthful situation.

Both Bresler and the city council expressed their willingness to do what they could. Councilman Clifford Simonson proposed that city workmen clear away debris left on land owned by Bresler, with the city to be reimbursed by the developer. Bresler will explore this possibility further with the city manager. Several councilmen will meet with Lakecrest residents on Saturday morning for a first-hand view of the situation.

Apartment Zoning Opposed

Bresler is petitioning for rezoning of Parcels 1 and 2 to R-330 (apartments), and the city council decided to recommend to the county commissioners that this petition be denied. A large area of land is involved, and the Greenbelt Master Plan provides for single family homes and parkland, as well as some apartments (R-30). In a lengthy statement, which was greeted with applause, Councilman Simonson commented that developers consistently want a higher

"Save Greenbelt" Campaign Asks Community Support

More than 100 volunteers are massing their efforts this week to get wide-spread community support behind the "Save Greenbelt" drive now being launched by the Citizens for a Planned Greenbelt (CFPG). They are conducting a house-to-house drive, securing signatures on petitions to keep the population density of Greenbelt low, to prohibit high-density apartments, to prevent four-lane highways in interior Greenbelt, and to minimize traffic problems on Greenbelt Road.

This, the CFPG says, can be done if the Greenbelt Master Plan is used as a guide for future planning in this area.

The volunteers will also ask for contributions to help finance the cost of the battle, covering such items as publicity and educational material and possible legal expenses. A contribution of $1 will entitle a family to official membership in the CFPG.

The CFPG is pledged to preserve Greenbelt as a residential planned community of home owners with low density housing and no high-density apartments. It opposes the Area 13 plan prepared by the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission because that plan will produce a population of 50,000 in Greenbelt and create conditions that will require the widening of present Greenbelt roads to four-lane highways.

Charles Schwan (GR. 4-6388) is heading the volunteer drive, assisted by CFPG committee members Elaine Skolnik from GHI (GR. 4-6060), Francis White from Lakeside (GR. 4-9467), Allen Douglas from Lakewood (GR. 4-5349), and Harvey Geller (GR. 4-6323) and Elizabeth Maffey (GR. 4-6666) from Woodland Way.

Persons who wish to volunteer their services in this drive are asked to contact any of the above-named persons.

Lakeside Volunteers

The volunteers from Lakeside are Stern, Bergemann, Fuchs, Beauchamp, and Gerring.

Other volunteers are Warner and Locicero from Boxwood Village and Tuchler from Lakeside North.

Its Aims Are Listed

The association will "support modernization of the County government, in structure and function, with adequate safeguards to assure that the public business is subject to a full accounting."

The group will work to assure honest government, protect community environment, liberalize the Hatch Act, improve law enforcement and revise Maryland's constitution, Pristoop said.

It will hold its first meeting May 24 at the Pepsi Cola Bottling Plant in Cheverly at 8 p.m.

Greenbelt Pianist To Appear on TV

Martin Berkofsky, of 58-J Crescent Rd., will appear on a television program entitled, "A Peabody Spring Concert," presented under the auspices of the Peabody Conservatory of Music. The program is scheduled to be shown on WMAR-TV—Channel 2, Baltimore, on Sunday, May 23, at 2:30 p.m.

The program offers piano sonatas played by Berkofsky, and choral works sung by the Peabody Madrigal Group. Guest speaker will be Dr. Howard Mitchell, conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra. Dr. Mitchell is an alumnus of the Peabody Conservatory.

Berkofsky will soon receive his Bachelor's Degree from the conservatory, after four years of scholarship study, and has again been awarded a one year scholarship towards the acquisition of both a Master's Degree and an Artist's Diploma from Peabody.

Maritime Celebration

Here for five days for the 15th anniversary of the Maritime Administration and to celebrate Maritime Day, the S. S. State of MAINE will be opened to the public Tuesday through Saturday, 12-22 May from 1 to 4-30 p.m. at 11th and "O" Streets, S.E.

Manned by midshipmen from the four state academies of Maine, Massachusetts, New York, Texas, and from the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, the 493-foot MAINE will be the largest ship to come up the Potomac.

At Haines Point Saturday May 22, the midshipmen plan a spectacular show to celebrate Maritime Day. Washingtonians are invited to watch a small boat parade at 1 p.m. followed by a lifeboat race between the five academies at 2 p.m.

density than the city wants. "This is the chief stumbling block," he commented, adding, "on the basis of traffic more than anything else, the city wants to hold population density down." He predicted that Greenbelt Road will become the most dangerous highway in the United States, if densities proposed in the Area 13 plan are realized.

The city council questioned Bresler about reports that he was planning a 490 unit development in Charlestowne Village in violation of covenants limiting the development to 350 units. Bresler denied the allegation, stating that at present he is planning 178 units, in addition to the 120 now completed or in construction. Otherwise, he has "no plans," said Bresler, adding that he has spent a great deal of money on drawings and scale models later rendered unusable by changes in master plans, street layouts, and school sites.

The drainage problem on Empire Place, caused by the operations of builder Stanley Schultz, was reported worsening. Schultz has made no attempt to correct the situation, although the 30-day period given him by a Maryland court to take action has almost elapsed. The city solicitor has been directed to inform the judge that Schultz has ignored his court order.

Odds and Ends

The city granted two requests, one from the Golden Agers to hold a carnival July 2-10, and the other from the DAV, Maryland City, for concession stands on July Fourth. Permission was granted subject to regulations established by the city manager.

Payment of bills incurred in the swimming pool reconstruction program was authorized. . . . The city manager was asked to gather information on the possibility of Greenbelt's securing zoning authority within borders. . . . Swimming pool passes for non-resident Greenbelt businessmen will be sold at the regular price for all other non-residents. . . . Council decided to contribute funds—donated by the Jaycees and Greenbelt Homes, Inc., to help pay expenses in the Jaeger appeal—to attorney William J. Avrutis, to offset costs he incurred during the appeal.

Welcome to Mrs. Lathrop
On May 25 at 8 p.m. the Fidalis class of the Greenbelt Community Church will hold an open house to welcome Mrs. Elizabeth Lathrop of Michoacan, Mexico. In 1963, Mrs. Lathrop went to Mexico with her husband, who is a Doctor of Linguistics, to live with the Tarascan Indians, a tribe of about 60,000 who live in the highlands of central Mexico. Until the Lathrops arrived, the Tarascan language had no alphabet. The Lathrops devised one and taught the Indians to use it; today over 10,000 Tarascans can read their own language.
